START DIVING THE WORLD IN 3 SIMPLE STEPS.

eLearning Course

Start your SDI Open Water Scuba Diver eLearning course and master all the important academic information. You can complete this phase through self-study, at your own pace, in the convenience of your home or office. All eLearning courses work on mobile and tablet devices too.

Pool Training

The next step will be to complete your in-water skill-development training. This takes place in a swimming pool or similar body of confined water, under the supervision of an SDI Instructor.

Open Water Dives

The final step is to complete the required number of SDI Open Water training dives under the supervision of your SDI Instructor. Here you will apply what you have learned during your academic and skill-development sessions, while learning practical lessons that can only be gained through real-world experience in open water.

When you start learning to scuba dive, as a minimum, you will need to own:

Scuba Mask, Snorkel, Boots, Scuba Fins.

Ray Scuba Diving will fit you personally for the right gear.

(Purchase from our Dive Shop and receive $40 in store credit towards rental gear)

How long does it take to get certified?

It's possible to complete your confined and open water dives in as few as two or three days by completing the classroom portion online via eLearning. The Open Water Diver course is incredibly flexible and performance based, which means that Ray Scuba Diving can offer a wide variety of schedules, paced according to how fast you progress. Your instructor's interest is in your learning to scuba dive, not in how long you sit in a class. So, training is based upon demonstrating that you know what you need to know and can do what you need to do. This means that you progress at your own pace – faster or slower depending upon the time you need to become a confident scuba diver who dives regularly. You can start learning to scuba dive online right now with Ray Scuba Diving and eLearning.
